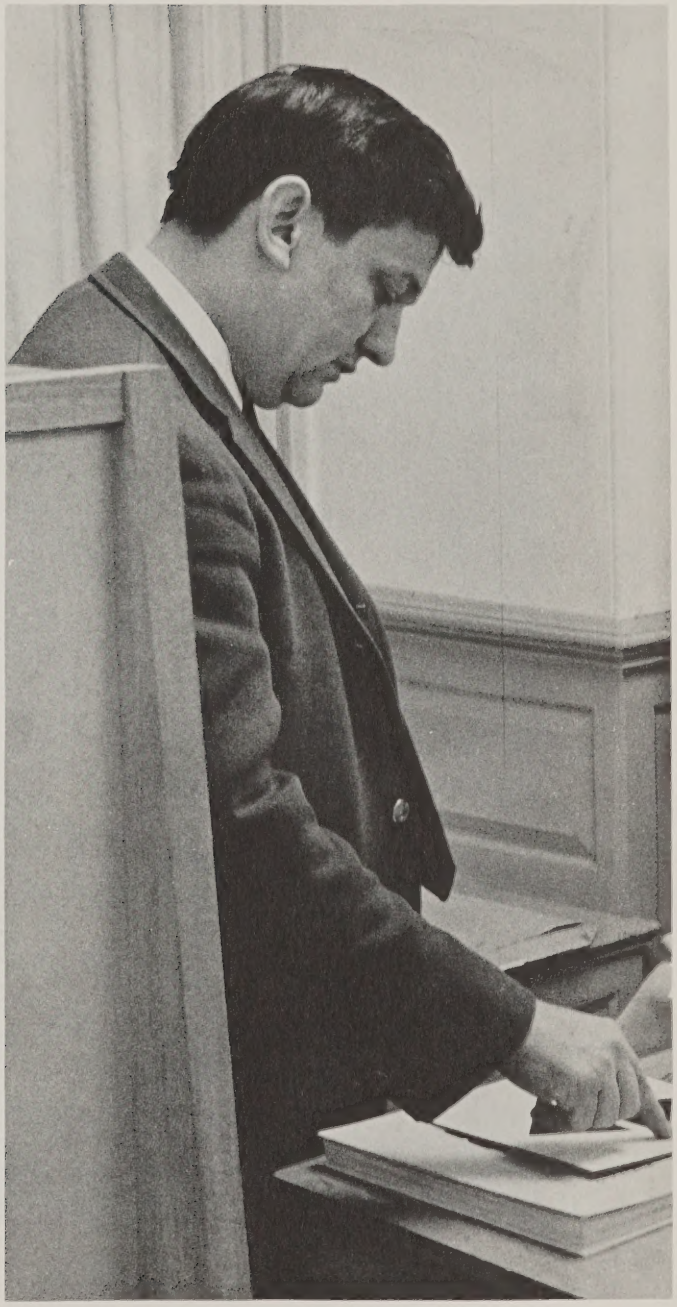
RHODE ISLAND SCHOOL OF DESIGN

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND



We respectfully dedicate this book to J. Malcolm Grear, Assistant Professor of Graphic Design, who, by instruction and example, has taught us the meaning of integrity.

ALBERT BUSH-BROWN, President

It is a pleasure to be invited each year to address the senior class in this way.

Rhode Island School of Design is a special place. At its best, it has asked of you a difficult task, daily creation in design. Again at its best, it has urged you to deploy your talent in the service of significant problems. Those are professional goals in our education. There is, also, a moral aim, to develop character that is dependable, intelligent, purposeful and ethical, qualities that are basic in professional conduct. Thus your college has no small educational purpose, and you, now as Seniors, later as Alumni, can rejoice in that fact.

THOMAS L. REED, Acting Dean of the Faculty

ROBERT H. MILLER, Dean of Students
